

Contributors

Bassam Alahmad is Co-founder and Executive Director of Syrians for Truth and Justice (<https://stj-sy.org/en/>), which has documented human rights abuses in the Syria since 2016.

Brian Bailie is Associate Professor of English in the English and Communication Department at the University of Cincinnati, Blue Ash College.

Dala Ghandour is a Lebanon-based attorney and certified mediator specializing in family status legal matters.

Eli Goldblatt is a poet and Professor Emeritus of English at Temple University.

Ahmed Abdelhakim Hachelaf is Education Portfolio Manager at Generations For Peace (GFP). He is also co-founder and co-director of the transnational Twiza and Mouakhat projects.

Jennifer Harding is Professor of Media and Culture at the School of Computing and Digital Media at London Metropolitan University.

Ashanka Kumari is Assistant Professor of English at Texas A&M University, Commerce.

Mohammed Masbah is founder and President of the Moroccan Institute for Policy Analysis (MIPA). He is a former Associate Fellow at Chatham House in London and Adjunct Professor at Mohammed V University.

Aaron Moss is Assistant Federal Public Defender in the Federal Public Defender Office of the Northern District of West Virginia.

Stephen J. Parks is Professor of English at the University of Virginia.

Jessica Pauszek is Assistant Professor of English at Boston College. She is managing director of New City Community Press and co-editor, with Steve Parks, of the Working and Writing for Change series. She is also Project Director for The FWWCP Archival Project.

Nicholas Pollard lectures in occupational therapy at Sheffield Hallam University. He has been involved in community publishing activities since the early 1980s and edited Federation, a magazine for the Federation of Worker Writers and Community Publishers (FWWCP), from 1992–2007.

Srdja Popović is Executive Director and Co-Founder of the Center for Applied Nonviolent Actions and Strategies (CANVAS) and Lecturer at Colorado College.

Lori Shorr is Associate Professor in the College of Education and Human Development at Temple University.

Kate Vieira is the Susan J. Cellmer Distinguished Chair in Literacy at University of Wisconsin-Madison. She is the author of Writing for Love and Money: How Migration Drives Literacy Learning in Transnational Families (Oxford University Press).

Emna Ben Yedder Tamarziste is the CFO of Medico Consult, an importer and distributor of medical devices in Tunisia. She is also an activist who helped found the nongovernmental organization ACT Think & Decide in 2011.